'Heritage Walk'
for First Year Students
by
Heritage India

Pune

Kiran Purandare does not whistle for entertainment, he might just be imitating a bird if he does so.

His unique hobby of whistling bird calls developed with his love for nature. For years, he has been attending and conducting various nature camps and this time spent with nature, started his hobby. Once accidentally, during one of the camps he imitated a birdcall and to his surprise the bird responded; And this was the beginning of many calls to the birds. A full time volunteer dedicated to nature, he has written seven books on birds to his credit and has spent over 10 years studying birds.

He believes that imitating birdcalls is not just fluke, but is a science. "There is a science behind this art. Each bird's call is not only different but also varies according to the ambience, location and the mood of the bird," he explains. And he manages to imitate all these. "Feeding, mating, hunger calls have minor differences. And with sufficient practice, not only can I respond to the calls, but now the birds too have started responding to my calls," says Kiran sir with a grin.

Orientation week activity #3 was a painting workshop- held at @PVP COA and conducted by @miglolinearvibes. The intent was to explore the medium of acrylic paint and express themselves without inhibitions. Students were divided into pairs and had to paint one 40cm x 40cm panel between them using any tool. After the paint dried they were asked to peel off the strategically placed stickers to reveal a secret message! There was immense excitement as the patterns were revealed! It was a fun-filled workshop!

“Team Meraki” is all geared up following the legacy of past two years and the tradition is to celebrate new year by exploring and shaping new material each time. The idea is to make each year count, nurture ourselves into better learners and grow together as a family. This year we have tried to explore a new material altogether to appreciate it's strengths and understand its's weaknesses. Exploration brings us together and its marks the culmination of year long collective efforts and dedication. As per the ritual, we will keep the curiosities alive, untill the 1st of January 2020, when we will inaugurate our intervention! We hope that you will join the occassion and celebrate its presence in the campus.

BEING AN ARCHITECT IS THE NEWCOOL

One of the comic by team Leewardists

The Leewardists is a platform to know about the importance of Design, Architecture, Sustainability and Urban Design through the medium of Comics. A graduate from the notable CEPT University, Ahmedabad, Ar. Kale quit a flourishing job with an MNC in Mumbai to pursue his comics passion fulltime.

Statement of Purpose for the workshop:

Architecture is one of the most favored choice amongst students as a course and career choice, nowadays. However, the pre-misconception of the course and lack of understanding about design and art makes it difficult for students to cope up. It, therefore becomes difficult to explain such a course with so many dimensions, to a fresh student.

We at leewardists, found this concern a major one to brood over and find a solution to this unbridged gap. Through a survey with over 200 respondents, we found that most of them expect to be introduced to architecture on their first day but leave even more confused as almost all programs seemed monotonous, devoid of ice-breaking sessions and a lot of information to grasp rather than having fun sessions. To counteract this situation we have devised a workshop that aims at simplifying the process of orientation through fun interactive sessions, visual graphics, and hands-on exercises. The main intent of the workshop is to ease the way in for newcomers and help them communicate and shed off their anxiety.

Meraki Pavilion

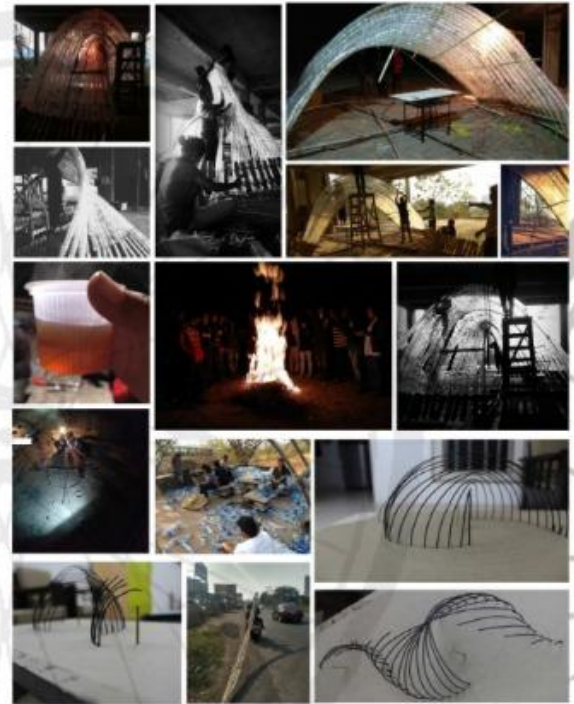

27th December 2018 - 1st January 2019

Meraki is a greek word which means doing something with soul, creativity and love. When you put an essence of yourself in your creations.

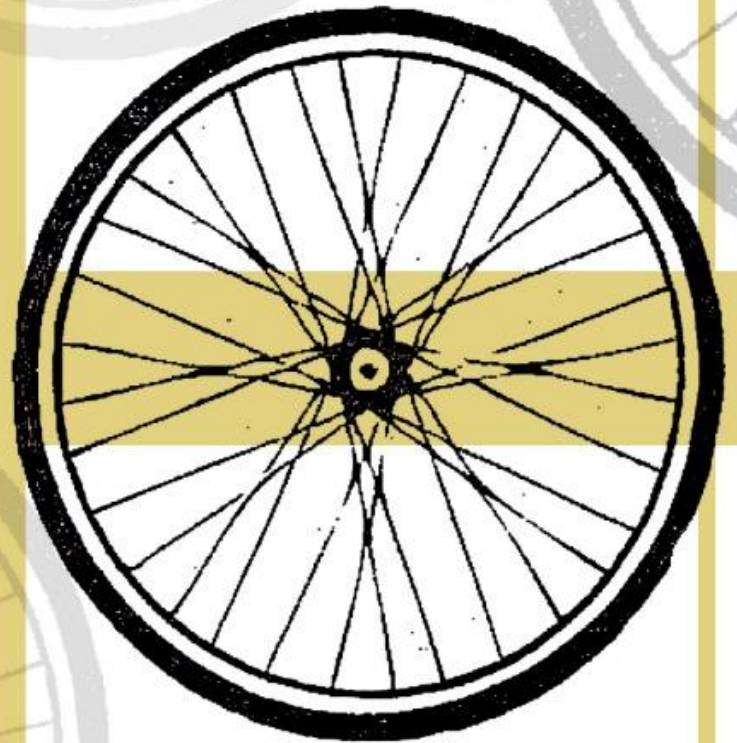

Hello everyone,

Meraki 2018 - 19 is back as per the legacy. We, the enthusiasts are all geared up for the next installation to be built. As a tradition, the idea is to celebrate new year by exploring and shaping new material each time. The idea is to make every new year's eve count and nurture ourselves into better learners' and grow every year. This year we have tried to come up with an altogether new material and know its strengths and weaknesses. The entire aim is to take a step forward and understand what sustainability truly means. Exploration is a proof that we are alive and hence we are trying to live. We would like you to keep up with your curiosity and as per the ritual, we would introduce our intervention on the 1st of January 2019.

We hope that the PVPCOA family graces Meraki and celebrates its presence in the campus we believe in creating sensitive and socially conscious architects who can contribute in shaping our built environment!

Driven by the idea of exploring the idea of resilience by design, second semester urban design studio in 2018-19 took up a case of Chennai that has been challenged by massive floods in 2015 followed by droughts in following years raising alarming conditions w.r.t. water and condition of its infrastructure. Prime objective of visiting this place was to carry out documentation of ecology of Pallikarantai marsh and its immediate urban context, culture and community, development trends, infrastructure conditions, effects of floods reflected in the nature development, etc. in and around this marsh along with the cultural-historical-architectural-planning context of city of Chennai. A five day joint workshop (28th Jan. 2019 to 1st Feb. 2019) with School of Architecture and Planning, Anna University and School of Design and Environment, National University of Singapore was also conducted as a part of this RSP Program.

Is the working and living environment available today, culturally and socially rich and humane? is the key question, one may ask.

Hinjawadi - a large & most prominent WORKPLACE destination in the periphery of Pune for IT engineers and service industry is largely composed of well-known Information Technology, Bio-Technology & Pharmaceutical offices spread in 3 phases of MIDC plotted development. Few more phases are planned & are in making. There is also the existing Gaothan and residential neighbourhoods with their own way of life.

The workshop intends to be a public participatory module where students can interact with stakeholders who are working or living in the study areas between Shivaji Chowk to Wipro Chowk in Hinjawadi. This interaction will give an overview of the development - issues, concerns and potentials about Hinjawadi to the people in this area and help students to understand the area better for their academic exercise.

The Story

We a group of around 30 enthusiastic souls of PVP COA came together on 30th of December 2017 for a cause. To unquench the thirst we had of exploring the strength and weaknesses of plastic as a building material. We hereby present you a pavillion which is made up of 3000 used plastic bottles. The journey of collection of these until the shaping it into the desired form as per the design tested our mettle as a team.

The hands on experience not only provided us an exposure of how and when to use this material but also stated how "sustainably", We can deal with plastic.

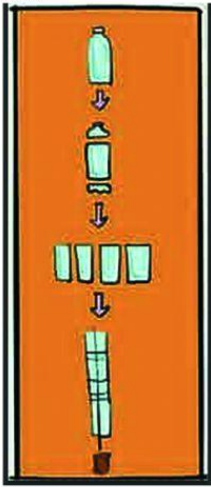

PLASTIC BOTTLES

NYLON THREAD

BAMBOO

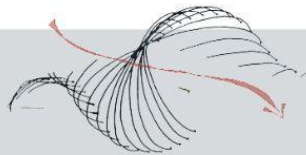

PAPER ROLLS

Our way to celebrate new year's eve was a bit different than the rest but when this pavillion stands straight up, there were no regrets seen on any of the explorers present on site.

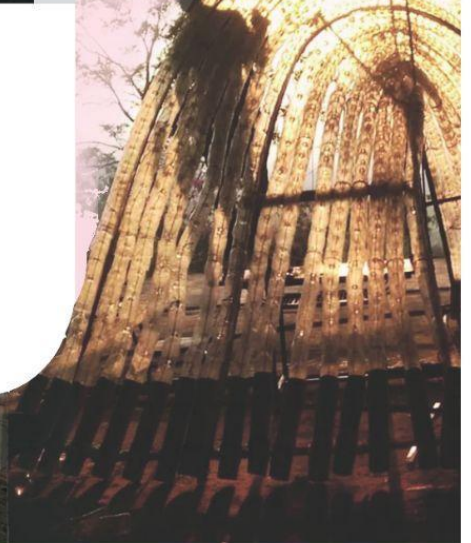

Lemon tea on at a temperature of 5° celsius at morning 3 AM energized everyone and the moments added to the memories
